HAP 554 Research Writing for Health Professionals

Objective:
The objective of the course is to offer students the opportunity to develop sound writing skills and to being to create research proposals from conception through to completed proposal. Students will gain experience in the editing and revision process as well as organization of materials and notes. The course will utilize a required text as well as other material.

Students will understand the nature of research, will identify a research/grant proposal Topic, and Problem; the Rationale and Significance of the Problem; Research Questions which, when answered, will contribute to a greater understanding of the problem identified. They will write a Research Proposal. They will have identified the proper methodology to collect the research data needed to answer the research questions.